Capitals, Commas, and Quotation Marks Review

Read the following conversation. Underline any word that needs a capital letter. Add commas and quotation marks as needed in each sentence.

1. How would you like to go with me on a four day cruise of the galapagos Islands?
Max casually remarked to matthew.
2. Sure why not? responded Matthew.
3. By the way max what will we be seeing there?
4. How about marine iguana sea lions giant tortoises frigate birds and strange rock formations? suggested Max.
5. Max asked Matthew rather sheepishly Where are the galapagos Islands?
6. Well first we will need to get to Quito Ecuador's capital which rests at an altitude of 9,350 feet in the andes Mountains.
7. The Galapagos Islands are right off shore from Quito I suppose suggested matthew.
8. No not really said Max we still have quite a way to go.
9. Max continued Next we'll take the Expreso Metropolitan train through the Andes Mountains down devil's Nose a nearly vertical 1,000 foot cliff.
10. Cool replied Matthew.
11. From there continued Max we will come to the flatlands of the coastal jungle where we'll catch a small plane and we'll fly over the Pacific to baltra Isle.
12. That is where we will board the cruise boat I suppose said Matthew.
13. Right Baltra is in the center of the fifteen island Galapagos archipelago and we'll cruise for four days through these volcanic islands.
14. After going to all that trouble to get there I hope we'll be seeing something really unusual Matthew stated.
15. How about some land iguanas a forest of opuntia cactus and some blue-footed boobies?
16. Okay I've got to admit that you've captured my interest said Matthew "What else will we see?"
17. On the beach of Punta suarex I hear that there is something called the waved albatross with a wingspan of eight feet offered Max and there are giant tortoises in the interior of the santa cruz island.
18. Personally I'm most interested in Puerta Egas where we'll be surrounded by marine iguana pelicans sea lions penguins and fur seals continued Max with his endless information.
