

The Parts of Speech

So far, you have studied seven different groups of words called parts of speech. The eighth part of speech is the interjection.

An interjection is a word or short group of words used to express strong feeling.

An interjection is often followed by an exclamation point (!).

Wow! The time went fast. Oops! I'm sorry. Hooray! We won!

Here are the eight parts of speech:

nouns	verbs	adverbs	conjunctions
pronouns	adjectives	prepositions	interjections

A word fits into one of these groups because of the way it is used in a sentence.

Identify the parts of speech. In the blank after each sentence, write the part of speech of the italicized word.

1. No! Don't touch the wire. _____
2. Matt peeled a tangerine. _____
3. The twins often have the same nightmares. _____
4. Ms. Tiggs always buys fresh vegetables. _____
5. Satchel Paige was an incredible pitcher. _____
6. Noise is a kind of pollution. _____
7. American appliances are well made. _____
8. Angie planned her speech carefully. _____
9. Mike slammed the hood down angrily. _____
10. Violets and buttercups grow wild. _____
11. Earthworms come out after the rain. _____
12. He has lost ten pounds. _____
13. Nobody noticed the sign. _____
14. He still waves at trains. _____
15. Is hail ice? _____
16. How many musicians are in that rock group? _____
17. Aha! I thought I'd find you here! _____
18. Autumn weather can change very suddenly. _____
19. The line at the box office seems even longer now. _____
20. During intermission we bought popcorn and ice cream. _____

Words Used as Different Parts of Speech

You cannot tell which part of speech a word is until you see it used in a sentence. A single word may be used in different ways, acting as several different parts of speech. Look at these examples:

A parade marked the beginning of the festival. (noun)
 Do you know the parade route? (adjective)
 The Olympic winners parade around the stadium. (verb)

Jerry and Phil built a warm fire after they had set up their tent. (noun)
 They fire employees often at that company. (verb)
 The fire department arrived soon after I called them. (adjective)

Identify the parts of speech. In the blank after each sentence, write the part of speech of the italicized word.

1. The Smiths hose their car down weekly. _____
2. The hose is on a hook by the faucet. _____
3. That is a fielder's mitt. _____
4. That exit is closed. _____
5. Nerve gas is outlawed. _____
6. The dentist hit a nerve and apologized. _____
7. Water ruins velvet. _____
8. Looters searched the ruins of the store. _____
9. Nick fell behind on the hike. _____
10. The spy was captured behind enemy lines. _____
11. Tanya can sing the high notes as well as the low notes. _____
12. Anna wore the floppy hat low over her eyes. _____
13. That is my coat. _____
14. We should walk toward that tower. _____
15. Do you know the speed limit on the expressway? _____
16. The speed of light is 186,282 miles per second. _____
17. Which TV stations caption programs for the deaf? _____
18. Which of these activities do you enjoy most? _____
19. We took our car to the service station for an oil change. _____
20. Tips are rewards for good service. _____